Venue: Studio 1, DSA Centre, 9 Bishan Place,
#09-01 Junction 8 Office Tower, Singapore 579837

Speaker's Profile:

Mr Steven Ng, a university counsellor and member of its Diversity and Inclusion committee, holds a Master Degree in Counselling and is a NIE/ARC trained educator with more than 10 years of experience in education, behaviour management and special needs sector. As the head for student discipline in a special education school, he formulated disciplinary intervention plans with teachers, allied health professionals and parents. He has a deep understanding of parents' concerns and challenges regarding their child's development from the founding years into adulthood.

Synopsis of Talk:

Mr. Steven Ng will address the unique dilemmas, approaches and practical tips that parents can utilise in addressing their child's challenging behaviours.

Participants will be able to:

1. Identify 4 elements of a successful intervention plan for your child's behaviour.
2. Address your child's challenging behaviour using research-proven strategies to reduce anxiety and reactivity.
3. Build adaptive skills and positive replacement behaviours for your child at home and in school.
